

Thursday Art Talk

PUBLIC

October 27, 2011 / 7 pm

Explore the gallery in the evening with a glass of wine and through discussions. The programme is dedicated to English speakers who live in Bratislava and would like to know more about Slovak visual art. These sessions are to introduce the permanent collections and current exhibitions and will usually be followed by informal discussions. Each meeting should last approximately one hour.

New Slovakia

(difficult) birth of the modern lifestyle 1918 - 1949

Next Thursday Art Talk will focus on the exhibition New Slovakia, which shows the penetration of modern civilization into Slovak society from 1918 to 1948/49. The picture of modernizing Slovakia as it was captured by visual arts, architecture and design is the key theme. Modern life was only a marginal theme within the framework of the Slovak art of this period. The expressions of modern life in a countryside practically devoid of industry, with prevailing rural population, were manifested gradually, slowly and frequently in a contradictory context.

- ▶ No advance reservations needed.
- ▶ Admission is 4.70 € per person.
- ▶ Place: SNG, Esterházy Palace (2nd floor),
Nám. L. Štúra 4, Bratislava

For more information, call or write to:

marcela.lukacova@sng.sk, eva.kotlarikova@sng.sk,
02/20 476 270

Slovenská národná galéria

Oddelenie galerijnej pedagogiky
www.sng.sk

